MONDO

Sustainable, Innovative and Intuitive Indoor Sport Flooring Solutions

If finding a superior indoor flooring product for fitness applications is on your radar, look no further than sport flooring solutions visionary, MONDO.

From rubber surfaces to interlocking systems and parquet flooring, each training floor product is long-lasting, low maintenance, and designed in response to the biomechanics of calisthenics, running, weightlifting and other types of training.

MONDO's certified flooring options stand out from the pack by anticipating user needs and expertly accommodating a wide range of exercises with very different movements. These intuitive qualities not only support but enhance athleticism and physical performance.

Synonymous with safety and maximizing comfort, MONDO is also very focused on sustainability, using postconsumer recycled materials which are 100% recyclable.
